Who Are We?

The Minnesota Wastewater Operators Association (MWOA) was created in 1956.

MWOA's membership includes wastewater facility operators, collection system operators, laboratory technicians, maintenance personnel, engineers, government, students, and consultants throughout Minnesota and the midwest.

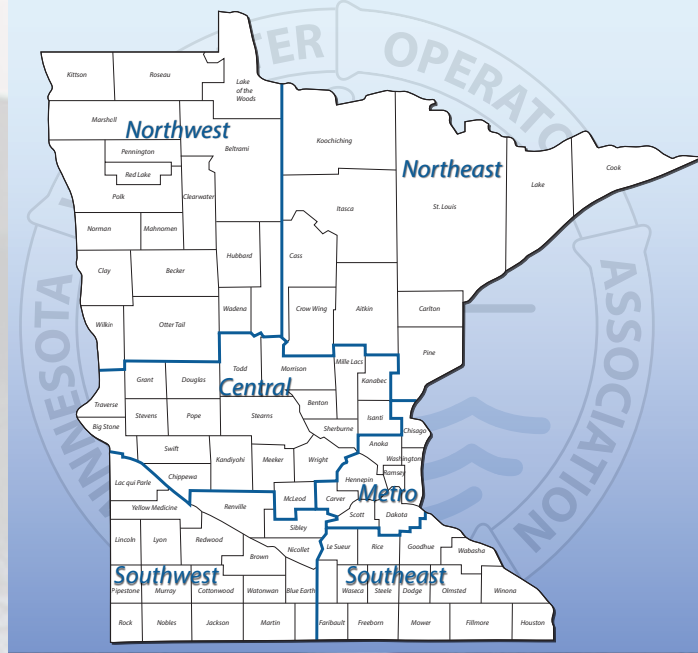

Every member has a significant role in the success of MWOA. Our goal is to inform and encourage others to take an active role in water quality issues and to support our members' efforts in improving water quality.

MWOA also partners with state, regional, and local agencies who make decisions that have an environmental impact on everyone.

Minnesota is recognized as a leader in environmental control and management. It is the association's desire that we serve to help everyone do a better job in protecting our most valuable and renewable resource in the Land of 10,000 Lakes.

Register your email address online at www.mwoa.net to receive email notices of section meetings and training events around the state.

The Minnesota Wastewater Operators Association is comprised of six sections within Minnesota.

Sections are represented by a Director, Chairperson, and Secretary and are responsible for initiating Section Meetings throughout the year to inform members on environmental issues related to the wastewater industry.

Section meeting attendance earns four wastewater contact hours towards wastewater certification renewal.

All six Directors meet with the Executive Board Officers quarterly to review and vote on MWOA issues.
